Sheriff's Detectives Arrest Suspect in Pueblo West Bank Robbery Suspect tied to second robbery at JR's Country Store in City of Pueblo

Pueblo, CO: Detectives with the Pueblo County Sheriff's Office Special Investigations Unit arrested a 34-year-old man Thursday in the robbery of the U.S. Bank in Pueblo West. He also was identified as a suspect in a separate robbery in the City of Pueblo.

Detectives arrested Dennis Triggs outside a North Side department store after they tracked him to that location. Triggs was taken into custody without incident.

Sheriff's detectives identified Triggs as the suspect in the September 26 robbery of the U.S. Bank after comparing photos from that robbery and the September 18 robbery of the JR's Country Store, 2402 S. Prairie Avenue.

In both robberies, the suspect wore the same baseball hat and jacket, but in the bank robbery, he wore a face covering. Detectives were able to identify Triggs from the photos from the JR's Country Store incident. Triggs was identified as the suspect in both robberies.

Triggs was arrested on two counts of robbery. He has been booked into the Pueblo County Jail.

"I want to commend the detectives for their hard work in tying these two cases together, identifying a suspect and making an arrest," said Pueblo County Sheriff Kirk M. Taylor. "This was great police work."
